SALT LAKE, July 29-Football reports from the A. C. camp in Logan indicate that Coach Loweli Romney's gridders will be strong contenders in the conference this fall and are out to repeat their triumphs of the 1917 season when they garnered the coveted championship. A survey taken of the available grid material for the 1919 season has netted much comfort and enthusiasm to the Aggie adherents. It is still doubtful as to whether "Pistol" Cannon and Mose Stiefel, all-conference men, and Clyde Worley, punter and guard of the 1917 team will return to school this fall and their absence i om the lineup will leave gaping holes, which will be difficult to plug up. However, Coach Romney has a number of experienced men, whom he can utilize in their places if they fail to return.

Lou Falck Back
"Snail" Harris of last year's freshie squad will probably be used to fill Cannon's position at center if the latter does not return. Harris is an aggressive player and is thoroughly fa-miliar with the game. In the event of Stiefel's absence, Louis Falck will fill in at quarter. Falck has had four years of high school at Ogden and was all-state quarter-back two years. He has also played quarter for two sea-sons with the 145th field artillery. He is a fast heady player and with his experience should prove to be one of the strongest cogs in the Aggie machine. Len Andrus has declared his intention of taking a fling at football this fall and may try out for Worley's guard. While having had no previous football experience, Andrus is a natural athlete and has the qualifications of a good line man, being heavy and

Other positions on the line will be taken care of by experienced men. Joe Mauhgan, who played tackle on the Mauhgan, who played tackle on the 145th field artillery team, will probably fix in at the same position this fall with the A. C. "Pesty" Crookston will be on hand to fight for a guard position and with his last year's ex-perience should prove valuable. "Jock" Jordan, former Panther star, looms forth as a star in the tackle position and can also be shifted to end. One of Coach Romney's best bets on the line is "Frog" McDonald, who was all-Montana end for two years in high school, and who also achieved cen-siderable of "rep" in athletics during the past year.

The backfield will be considerably strengthened by the return of Eman Olson, who will be back in his old position at fullback. Olson may also be called upon to bear the brunt of the kicking next year. It is also understood that Percy Hansen, one of the fastest backfield stars that ever performed for the blue and white may this he induced to return to school this
